FORWARD!

It is a matter for congratulation with any newspaper when its business is always growing-ever steadily going forward, without "booms" and without collapses. That is the enviable experience of THE EVENING STAB. Its size, its circulation, and its advertising patronage have steadily increased together. Every step has been forward; no retrograde movement in any department. Below are the sworn figures which show THE STAR'S circulation during last week. Nothing like it anywhere.

SENATE.

The Senate met at noon in continuation of the legislative day of Thursday last, the pending question being the resolution to amend the rules by providing a method of closing debate. Mr. Morgan resumed the floor and continued his argument, begun on Saturday, in opposition to the proposed rule and to the elections bill, both of which measures he claimed (on the authority of the New York Times) to be for the advancement of Mr. Harrison's project for re-

Mr. Morgan said that he would do so, although he was at a very interesting point in his speech, which he trusted he would never have the opportunity to resume.

Green B. Raum, jr., then made a statement denying charges made by Mr. Cooper relative to the care of his horses by O'Donnell.

THE BERING SEA CASE

It Did Not Come Up in the Supreme Court The Bering sea case did not come up in the Supreme Court today for the reason that a case under argument on Friday is not yet disposed of and the rest of the day was needed to conclude its argument. The Bering sea matter therefore went over until tomorrow. The court was filled with spectators, who were dis-appointed at the failure of the case to come up. FOURTEENTH STREET EXTENDED.

The Contractor to Begin Paving With Asphalt by May 1. In the current appropriation bill there is an tem of $12,300 for the improvement by paving with asphalt 14th street extented. At present the oad on 14th street above Yale street is unpaved. The tracks of the Washington and Georgetown railroad are located on the east side of the road and the roadway on the east side thereof is in a very bad condition, while that on the left is of macadam and comparatively good. In improving this street the tracks will have to be moved to the center of the roadway, and the work will to the center of the roadway, and the work will have to be done before the 1st of July or the appropriation will lapse. The Commissioners bearing this in mind recently wrote a letter to the president of the Washington and Georgetown Railroad Company requesting him to change the tracks so that the improvement could be made. The company requested that they be not required to make the change until they were ready to make the final change for the cable road. Col. Robert in his memorandum to the Commissioners today says that the only they were ready to make the change until they were ready to make the final change for the cable road. Col. Robert in his memorandum to the Commissioners today says that the only reason he can see for delaying the change in the tracks is that it requires the railroad company to do the work a few months earlier than is for their interest, and that the public interest would be merificed by paving the west side of the street first, as it already is macadamized, while the east side has not been improved and could not be used. The Commissioners discussed the matter at a meeting of the board and requested the secretary to write a letter to the Washington and Georgetown Railroad Company requesting them to lay their tracks and conduits for their cable line on 14th street in time so that the contractor for asphalting the roadway may begin work not later than May 1, 1891.

TELEGRAPH WIRES DOWN. The City Almost Completely Cut Off From

The storm of Saturday night was harder on the telegraph wires throughout this part of No the country than was the great blizzard of 1888. The rain and sleet striking on the wires their downward career.

THE CITY SHUT OFF.

The city shut off.

Today this city is largely shut off from telegraphic communication, more especially toward the north. At the offices of the Western Union and the Postal Telegraph companies all messages for points beyond Philadelphia are taken subject to indefinite delay, and it may be several days yet before through communication will be established. Both companies have some of their wires up as far as Philadelphia, and about noon today a Star reporter was told at the office of the Postal Telegraph that they might have one through to New York some time today, as they had had a large toree of men at work all yesterday and last night. On the Western Union there are several bad breaks between Wilmington and Philadelphia, but most of the damage is the other side of the latter point, and the news is frankly given out that it may be several days yet before they are all right once more. that it may be several days yet before they are telegraph poles were to be found on every all right once more.

A ROUNDABOUT WAY.

Messages might be sent to New York around by way of Buffalo and Albany and down the since the great blizzard of March, 1888, and it Hudson river were it not for the fact that there are not enough wires left there to attend to their regular business, and it would be quite out of the question to make them do any more. There is but one line between here and Cincin-Mr. Wolcott then made that motion and Mr. Dolph moved to lay it on the table.

A point of order against the latter motion was made on the democratic side, but the presiding officer (Mr. Platt) overruled it and held that the motion was in order.

The vote was proceeded with amid great excitement, and there was much confusion and some ill feeling in relation to pairs.

SENATOR CAMERON VOTES WITH THE DEMOCRATS.

There is but one line between here and Cincinnati that is in working order, and almost all the wires along the turnpikes did not suffer quite as badly and they will proble be the first to be gotten back in shape again. North and east of New York the wires were all down yesterday and it is not thought that they are in anything like shape yet. All the cables that could possibly be obtained were hurried off not suffer quite as badly and they will proble be the down. All the cables that direction, and if the supply of cable gives out it may delay the work of repair in this section. Wherever a number of wires are strung together on poles and a break of any length. together on poles and a break of any length occurs the attempt is not made to connect piece of cable that contains a number of wires in it. This is strung along from the last good pole before the break to the next good one on the other side and work can go on temporarily in that way until the poles can be erected again and permanent repairs made.

UNDERGROUND AND OVERHEAD. A STAR reporter asked Manager Marean of the Western Union Company whether a few more damaging storms like the blizzard and the one of Saturday night would not induce the question on the approval, and, in order to obviate this occasion for forty minutes' debate running their wires that would be a little more after the demand was ordered, said a few words permanent and substantial than the present in support of the journal overhead system, that seems to get under foot every time the wind blows hard

The previous question being ordered, Mr. Blount (Ga.) made the point of order that debate was in order. The so-called debate of the gentleman from Ohio was no debate. It would be trifling in the school room; it was an insult and an outrage in the House of Representatives. [Democratic applause.]

The Speaker, overruled the point of order and refused to recognize Mr. Blount's appeal.

Mr. Boutelle (Me.) moved that the House go into committee of the whole on the naval aptherefore behind time. The wires north of Peekskill, which left the Grand Central three forces behind time. The wires north of Philadelphia had not all been repaired today, at 9 o clock, had a narrow escape, as thundering out of the Yorkville tunnel than the force of the property but the trains today were about on time.

The blizzard did not affect the running of trains on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and thus far all have arrived on time.

SENATOR HEARST'S CONDITION.

He is Feeling Somewhat Better Today, Senator Hearst is understood to be in a critical condition and it is thought that his death may occur at any time. A STAR reporter who called at his residence at a late hour this after noon, however, was told that the Senator had had a comfortable and restful night last night and was feeling somewhat better today. He was quite conscious and the attendants seemed a late of the street as they fell and shook the buildings to their very foundations. The fall made a sound like thunder, startling people for blocks away. Many of the enormous poles were broken in three pieces and the cross arms were shattered. The houses were so blockaded by the wreck that until near midday ingress and ergress was impropabled. and was feeling somewhat better today. He was quite conscious and the attendants seemed a little encouraged.

In answer to a question Mr. Jones said he retained about $500,000 of the stock and that a majority of the stock remained in the United States. He would sell under no circumstances. He had practical control of the business in America, and there had been no attempt to introduce English labor customs or changes in the conduct of the company. Mr. Jones further said that when he sold his brewery he guaranteed a dividend of 5 per cent on the investment to the purchasers. restment to the purchasers.

He had no knowledge of the sale of any other American breweries to English capitalists.

The following is the report of the storm in froze there in such a manner as to offer a fine New York and its damage, which was made up resistance to the high wind that was blowing. to be telegraphed from that city last night, but As a result long stretches of wire were blown which, on account of the lack of telegraph down, carrying the telegraph poles along in wires, was brought to Washington this moruing by train:

serious in its effects upon the telegraph poles and wires of the city. Early in the morning telegraphic and telephonic connections were broken, and, while the snow did not offer a bar to railroad traffic, the prostrate poles and fallen wires prevented the running of cars on many streets and even the elevated railroad trains were compelled to move cautiously and were often brought to a stop by the wires that had fallen across the POLICE AND PIRE DEPARTMENTS.

The police and fire departments were especial sufferers. All wire connections between the various police stations and the central office were broken and recourse was had to messengers. The fire department circuits were generally broken, and as no alarms could be sent erally broken, and as no alarms could be sent out, excepting on a very few cir-cuits, patrols of firemen were established throughout the city. Men were set to repair damages at once, and these two most important of the city departments will soon have their telegraph service restored. The same may be said of the telegraph, telephone and electric light companies, all of which had their full effective force engaged all day. Many quar-ters of the city would be wrapped in cimmerian darkness this evening but for the fortunate circumstance that the moon is nearly full and circumstance that the moon is nearly full and supplies in part the lack of the electric lights, none of which were working in any portion of the city, excepting in some sections in the Harlem district.
